

Selecting the Right Resin Cement

Recent developments in restorative materials and cements continue to support practitioners' ability to deliver aesthetic dental care. The proliferation of these therapeutic alternatives can be challenging, particularly when the clinician is treatment planning and selecting the proper techniques, ceramic systems, and cements. The following guide highlights the necessary steps and benefits associated with three cements that are currently available at Ivoclar Vivadent.

When the clinician has three quality cements from which to choose, as shown herein, the ideal selection for a given indication often amounts simply to a matter of personal preference. Multilink, Appeal, and Variolink II can all be used chairside for optimal aesthetic results.
